

It's About ACCESS... NOW.

COVID-19 affected many organizations this year, but Access Now remained open and even ramped up services to ensure that patients got the care they so desperately needed. While it wasn't business as usual, more than 1,000 skilled medical volunteers and all local health systems generously donated their time to provide specialty medical services free of charge.
AccessNowRVA.org

An affiliate of the Richmond Academy of Medicine, Access Now is the key to specialty care for uninsured patients in Central Virginia. In 2019, medical professionals in our community treated 2,147 patients in more than 8,000 appointments, totaling more than $5 million in donated services. If you know them, please say THANK YOU! Richmond is a healthier community because they care.

I am amazed and grateful for the continued commitment of the medical providers who provide compassionate access to health care for the Access Now patients in our community.
- W. Matthew Scott, Sr. VP Townebank, and Chair, Access Now Board of Directors

My Access Now doctors take good care of me, are kind and understand me. I know that when one gives love and patience it will get back to you as well.
- Arminda G., patient

You have no idea of how grateful I am for your help and attention. Otherwise, I could not have been able to fulfill my medical needs.
- Eva D., patient

Access Now is a lifeline for patients who need specialty care. We are deeply grateful to all the medical providers who donate services to care for our most vulnerable neighbors.
- Karen Legato, Executive Director, Health Brigade and Access Now Board Member

Thank you, 2020 Physician and Group Volunteers
